11.1.1.54.1 ogtt0: measured value

Type	Variable
Superordinate	Immediate analysis, p. 4167 (Examination)
In subsection 2	oGTT Glukose 0h (ogtt0)
Title	ogtt0: measured value
Description	oGTT glucose 0h (ogtt0): Measured value or error code (6 digits). On the recommendation of the expert group, the variable a_ogtt_0 should be used instead of this variable, as invalid measured values (e.g. due to non-SOP-compliant performance of the OGTT) have already been eliminated there. A joint consideration of centrally and locally measured OGTT values (fasting as well as 2-hour glucose values) is not useful. This leads to misinterpretations and could suggest regional differences that are not real or mask real regional differences. The recommendation of the Diabetes Expert Group is therefore to use only the data from the central laboratory analysis (sa_lab=1) when analysing regional prevalences. The justification for this decision is based on the advantages of a central, standardised measurement procedure with uniform preanalytics.

11.1.2 NAKO-440 biosample results

Type	Examination (unit)
Superordinate	Results data from biosample analyses, p. 4167 (Project)
Name	NAKO-440 biosample results
Title	NAKO-440: S. Castell et al. - Determinants and consequences of the (
Description	S. Castell et al. - Determinanten und Folgen des (differentiellen) Serostatus für Infektionen. Die Borreliose-Diagnostik wird mit einem zweistufigem Algorithmus durchführt (Qualitätsstandard MiQ 12). Als erstes werden Enzyme-linked Immunosorbent Assay-Tests (ELISA) durchgeführt (Virotech Diagnostics GmbH), um die Seroproben auf IgG/IgM-Antikörper zu untersuchen. Dieses Verfahren wird automatisiert durchgeführt (DSX® ELISA Prozessoren, Dynex Technologies). Im zweiten Schritt wird die Spezifität nachgewiesener Antikörper automatisiert (ProfiBlot Automatic® Systems, Dynex Technologies) durch die Durchführung von LINE-Immoblots (Virotech Diagnostics GmbH) verifiziert (grenzwertige und positive ELISA-Ergebnisse). Abschließend werden die Daten an die LabImage® LA Software (Kapelan Bio-imaging Solutions) übermittelt, welche Immunoblots erkennt, kombiniert und interpretiert. Technisch validiert wird über eine Medizinisch-technische Laboratoriumsassistentin und die medizinische Auswertung durch einen Facharzt für Mikrobiologie, Virologie und Infektionsepidemiologie.

11.1.3 Urine Stix analysis

Type	Examination (unit)
Superordinate	Results data from biosample analyses, p. 4167 (Project)
Name	Urine Stix analysis
Title	Urine Stix analysis
Description	Processed variables and validation of the results of UrinStix analysis within the framework of point-of-care testing at baseline assessment: UrinStix analysis was performed on fresh urine samples at the respective study centers. Three of the total 18 study centers (Augsburg, Freiburg, and Neubrandenburg) conducted this analysis; therefore, corresponding measurements are available only for these study centers. All study centers used the same system: CLINITEK Status+ (Siemens Healthineers, Erlangen, Germany). The Freiburg and Neubrandenburg study centers used CLINITEK Microalbumin 9 (Siemens Healthineers, Erlangen, Germany) urine test strips. The Augsburg study center initially used Multistix Microalbumin 9 (Siemens Healthineers, Erlangen, Germany) but switched during the ongoing study to CLINITEK Microalbumin 9 (Siemens Healthineers, Erlangen, Germany). After this change, the same measurement parameters were collected in all three study centers. Prior to this change, the Augsburg center collected measurements of bilirubin, specific gravity, and urobilinogen, but not albumin, creatinine, the albumin/creatinine ratio, or the protein/creatinine ratio. In addition, data on urine color and urine turbidity were collected at the Neubrandenburg study center. Differences between the urine test strips are described in the associated quality report. Differences in pH values should be taken into account in all relevant analyses.

11.4.1.1.1 OGTT valid

Type	Variable
Superordinate	OGTT and classification of glucose tolerance, p. 4749 (Examination)
In subsection 1	Inclusion and validity
Title	OGTT valid
Description	a_ogtt_valid contains the assessment of OGTT validity according to the recommendations of the Diabetes Expert Group. OGTTs in which handgrip strength measurement or spirometry (n = 3,645, as of 25 June 2025) was performed during the test were classified as valid despite deviating from the SOP, as analyses showed no relevant influence on the 2-hour glucose. For evaluations based exclusively on SOP-compliant OGTTs, it is recommended to additionally request the variables a_ogtt_exc_grip and a_ogtt_exc_spiro and to exclude affected cases accordingly.

Type	Variable
Superordinate	OGTT and classification of glucose tolerance, p. 4749 (Examination)
In subsection 1	Inclusion and validity
Title	Grip strength measurement before second blood draw (not excluded, but not compliant with the OGTT SOP)

Description	Grip strength measurement was done before the second blood draw. This is not OGTT SOP compliant, however, these participants were not excluded, since the glucose values of these participants did not differ from the ones without grip strength measurement before the second blood draw. Participants were considered to meet this condition, if date(hgr_beg)=date(ogtt_o8_beg) and ((hgr_beg_mess or time(hgr_beg)) 0 and hgr_rh1_kraft not equal 888) or (hgr_rh2_kraft > 0 and hgr_rh2_kraft not equal 888) or (hgr_rh3_kraft > 0 and hgr_rh3_kraft not equal 888) or (hgr_lh1_kraft > 0 and hgr_lh1_kraft not equal 888) or (hgr_lh2_kraft > 0 and hgr_lh2_kraft not equal 888) or (hgr_lh3_kraft > 0 and hgr_lh3_kraft not equal 888). Missings in ogtt_be2_02 and ogtt_o8_beg are considered in a_ogtt_exc_105135 and a_ogtt_exc_1115 , respectively, and thus are included in a_ogtt_valid. The number of participants fulfilling these criteria differs from the number in the quality assurance report (NAKO-431), because there, only the variable hgr_beg_mess was used and this variable was filled only until May 2025. Additional consideration of hgr_beg led to a higher number of participants fulfilling the criteria.

Type	Variable
Superordinate	OGTT and classification of glucose tolerance, p. 4749 (Examination)

Title	Spirometry examination before second blood draw (not excluded, but not compliant with the OGTT SOP)
Description	Spirometry examination was done before the second blood draw. This is not OGTT SOP compliant, however, these participants were not excluded, since the glucose values of these participants did not differ from the ones without spirometry examination before the second blood draw. Participants were considered to meet this condition, if date(spiro_unt_beg)=date(ogtt_o8_beg) and (time(spiro_unt_beg) < time(ogtt_be2_02)) and spiro_unt_beg is not missing and ogtt_be2_02 is not missing and at least one spirometry file exists, i. e. spiro_file_1 is not missing or spiro_file_2 is not missing. Missings in ogtt_be2_02 and ogtt_o8_beg are considered in a_ogtt_exc_105135 and a_ogtt_exc_1115 , respectively, and thus are included in a_ogtt_valid. Type	Variable
Superordinate	OGTT and classification of glucose tolerance, p. 4749 (Examination)
In subsection 1	OGTT and classification of glucose tolerance
Title	OGTT 0h
Description	OGTT glucose 0h measured value or error code, use this variable for analyses on the recommendation of the expert group, as invalid values (e.g. due to non-SOP-compliant performance of the OGTT) have already been eliminated. A joint analysis of centrally and locally measured OGTT values (fasting and 2-hour glucose values) is not useful. This leads to misinterpretations and could suggest regional differences that are not real or mask real regional differences. The recommendation of the Diabetes Expert Group is therefore to use only the data from the central laboratory analysis (sa_lab=1) when analysing regional prevalences. The justification for this decision is based on the advantages of a central, standardised measurement procedure with uniform preanalytics.
